

"Baby's Never Ill"—Remedy FREE

Summer after summer Dr. Caldwell is in receipt of hundreds of letters from mothers all over the country thanking him for keeping their children in good health these hot days. The way is simple for any mother. If the child breaks out with sores, if it scratches itself, if it has no appetite and doesn't sleep well, if its bowels are constipated or too loose, do not become alarmed, but try a dose at bedtime of DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN. There is no remedy so effective in the digestive ailments of children, and so well liked by them for its pleasant taste and non-gripping, than this very same DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN. Ask the druggist who has your confidence and he will tell you that more mothers are buying this remedy today than any other. It is not to be compared to the ordinary laxative, because this contains tonic properties that help to build up the child; nor is it to be compared to salts and purgative waters, for they do but temporary good, nor to tablets or pills, which often gripe and are difficult to take. It is especially the right remedy for women and old folks because of its gentle action. Your druggist will sell you a bottle for 50 cents or $1.00, according to size.

Those who have never yet used DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN and would like to make a test of it before buying in the regular way of their druggist, can obtain a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE either for themselves or any member of their family by sending name and address to the doctor. The sample will be sent to your home free of charge. In this way you can find out what it will do without cost. Also, if the man presents difficulties that doctors and other remedies are unable to cure, write a letter to Dr. Caldwell explaining how the person suffers and he will give you his best MEDICAL ADVICE based on half a century of experience in stomach, liver and bowel diseases without charge. Women who have children should send for "REMARKS SUGGESTIONS TO MOTHERS," containing the doctor's advice on diet, hygiene, etc., in hot weather—a very important subject. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 507 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill.

Unique Old Book.

What is perhaps the most curious book in the world is possessed by the Prince de Ligne. This work is neither printed nor a manuscript, the text being formed of letters cut in vellum and pasted on blue paper. Notwithstanding this extraordinary method of presenting the text the book is as easy of perusal as if printed in the boldest type. All the characters shown are cut with marvelous dexterity and precision.

This unique volume bears the title, "The Book of All Passions of Our Lord Jesus Christ, with Characters Not Composed of Any Materials." It is said that Rudolph II offered no less than 11,000 ducats for this wonderful product of the book-maker's art, but the offer was refused.—London Globe.

Mother—Is it possible, Harry, that you have eaten all that cake without giving a thought to your sister?

Harry—Oh, no! I thought of her every second. I was afraid all the time that she would come before I had eaten it up.—Life.

Mr. Brown (rushing excitedly into the room)—Marie, Marie, intelligence has just reached me—Mrs. Brown (calmly interrupting him)—Well, thank heaven, Henry.—Brooklyn Life.

Faith is to be measured by what it makes you do, not by what it makes you want others to do.

MAKES VERY UNUSUAL CONDITION DISPOSING OF ESTATE.

Stepdaughter's Son to Get Residue if He Modifies His Smoking and Leads an Orderly Life.

AN ECCENTRIC OLD TESTATOR.

New York, Sept. 24.—The will of William Henry Maximilian Grevel, a wealthy and eccentric man who lived at 95 East Tenth street and died at his summer home, The Nook, at Atlantic Highlands, N. J., on August 17 was filed for probate yesterday. The will covers about thirty pages, and nearly half of it is taken up with directions regarding the disposition of Grevel's body.

The residue of the estate goes to Grevel E. W. Acker, the son of his adopted daughter, Ida Jeanette Acker on condition that he abstains absolutely from the use of "paper cigarettes." Grevel leaves a large stable of horses at his country estate to his wife, Wilhelmina Grevel, providing that no one but her coachman or her friend, Adele Heuel, or herself drives any of them.

If any reputable citizen of Monmouth county sees any one else driving the horses and makes affidavit to that effect they all are to revert to the estate and be sold at public or private sale as the executors think best, with the provision that they are not to be driven in the county. The money realized on the sale of the horses is to be turned over to the overseer of the poor of Monmouth county to be used for the persons under his charge.

Concerning the funeral services and burial the testator says:

"I direct that the funeral services be brief and conducted under Masonic offices. I desire that my body be inclosed in a coffin even now provided by me and to be taken in an undertaker's wagon to the nearest crematory, by two close friends, not connected with my family, who volunteer to do so as a favor and who will see that the coffin is demolished and will remain in sight of the crematory until my ashes have been taken therefrom.

"I desire them to see that my ashes are placed in the inner receptacle, likewise now provided, and turned over to them for delivery to my beloved wife or whoever she may designate, or in the event of her prior death, sealed by the attending friends and temporarily left in the crypt of the crematory. There, as soon as possible, but before the disposition of my property has been made, the receptacle originally containing my ashes is to be placed in an outer receptacle, also even now provided, surrounded by photographs of those dearest to my heart and person at the time of my death, not forgetting those of my departed parents my aunt Clara Harech and my late father-in-law, Dr. John H. Harman as well as my own.

"I desire it properly inscribed and securely and tightly soldered on the outside in the presence of my trusted friends who volunteer the act of kindness, and the whole, at the convenience of my beloved wife, deposited either with or without ceremony within the marble urn at the Lutheran cemetery, Middle Village, L. I."

After bequeathing to his wife his property at 211 East Eighteenth street, Manhattan, and the contents of the house and stable at Atlantic Highlands, the testator makes the provision concerning his horses. He directs that a fund be set aside out of his estate to pay his daughter $3,000 a year and gives "our friend" Adele Heuel $500 and an income of $25 a week. He gives his ward Emma A. Benning $500 outright and an income of $25 a month after Jan. 19, 1913, the latter contingent on her being married respectably, being respectable if single or being in a respectable business.

The grandson, Grevel E. W. Acker, is to have the income of the residue until he is 25 years old, and the capital after that time if he "leads a respectable life, indulges in no expenses, and doesn't smoke paper cigarettes."

The testator makes about fifty bequests of what he calls "souvenir trinkets" to his friends, and among them is a cigarette holder. He wills his "marine clothing" to his wife, and if she doesn't want it it is to be distributed among such servants as The Nook as it will fit. If they don't want the "marine clothing," any one can have it who applies.

Mr. Grevel wrote out the following death notice on April 24, 1903, leaving the date blank:

"Even in death I greet you my friends, and invite you to attend services at St. Mark's German Lutheran church, Sixth street between First and Second avenues. Incineration private. No flowers on this occasion, please. If you wish to be taken your remembrance of me, do so a year hence at lot 2, map 1."

They Didn't Have to Change. During the years in which our pure food laws have been put into effect there has been a great hurrying and scurrying on the part of the food manufacturers to change their methods to make them conform to the law.

The Quaker Oats Company is a conspicuous exception. It was admitted that Quaker Oats was as pure and clean as possible and that it was an ideal food. It is so cheap that any one can afford it and so nourishing that everyone needs it. The result of last year's experiment at Yale and other points where food values were tested is that Quaker Oats has been adopted by many persons as their food on which they rely for adding vigor and endurance of muscle and brain.

The Quaker Oats Company meets all the needs of the way in its Quaker Oats; regular size packages and the large size family package; the latter, both with and without china.

Lutheran cemetery, L. I. Cordially and fraternally.

"WILLIAM GREVEL" The notice was taken to a newspaper office for publication in the obituary column, with the date of his funeral Thursday, August 19, filed in. Following it was a notice by the officers of City Lodge, F. and A. H., asking the members to attend.

To Extinguish Burning Fluids. The new German method of fighting fire in light liquids, like benzine or gasoline, consists in covering the surface with a layer of foam, containing an inert gas, thus cutting off the air and making combustion impossible. The approved apparatus made by a Prussian company consists of a simple metal cylinder, divided into two chambers and provided with a long spout. One chamber is charged with an aqueous solution of potash, alum, and sodium sulphate; the other, with a solution of sodium bicarbonate, sodium sulphate and liquorice root extract. As the two liquids are inclined or reversed the two solutions mix as they issue from the spout and the chemical reaction between the alum and bicarbonate gives a prompt evolution of carbon dioxide, converting the liquorice into an exceedingly stiff and persistent foam.

Even when the burning liquid has become so hot that its fiery vapor bubbles up through the foam, the carbon dioxide rapidly cools it. In a test by the Hanover fire department a quantity of eighteen gallons of benzine, partly in a shallow iron pan and partly scattered on the ground—was allowed to burn three minutes, and then received the contents of two foam extinguishers, which quickly arrested the fire. When the foam was removed and the fire relighted water from a two-inch hose was insufficient to check the flames which spread rapidly, endangering nearby buildings.

LITTLE BABY HORRIBLY BURNED

By Boiling Grease—Skin All Came Off One Side of Face and Head—Tried an Ointment which Made It All Fester—Wee Sufferer Seemed Disfigured for Life.

CURED WITHOUT A MARK BY CUTICURA

"About a year and eight months ago my baby, aged ten months, was sitting on the floor beside the stove and was preparing the breakfast when the frying-pan full of boiling grease was upset and it went all over one side of the baby's face and head. One of the family ran and wiped the scald with a towel and you may think what a mess she made, pulling the entire skin off. We took her to a cousin who told us to get a doctor, which we did. He tended her a week and gave me some stuff like lard to put on. But it all festered and I thought the baby was disfigured for life. A woman close beside me told me to try Cuticura Ointment. I used about three boxes and it was wonderful how it healed. In about five weeks it was better and there wasn't a mark to tell where the scald had been. People used to ask me if that was the baby that was scalded and they would hardly believe me when I told them she was and what cured her face. Her skin is just like velvet and I have never been without Cuticura since. Cuticura cured three other children of ringworm besides, so I have good cause to thank it for what it has done. Mrs. Hare, 1, Henry St., South Shields, Durham, England, March 22, 1903."

GLORIOUS PIG STICKING

An East Indian Sport Full of Thrills and Danger.

Of all sports the most exciting, the most wildly exhilarating, says a writer in Bailey's Magazine, is surely pig sticking. While waiting for the beaters to come up when driving for deer or bison or tiger, the pulses gallop, time flies and excitement quivers in every nerve and muscle, but it is nothing to the tension attendant on the wait at the edge of the jungles for the break of the old gray boar as he comes out, usually in a reluctant, surly manner, and proceeds to cross the open toward the next bit of cover.

Then the gathering up of your reins and the fresh grasp of your spear as you look with straining eyes—to win the direction of the captain of the hunt for the signal to go, now to the animal itself, inwardly praying that he may not turn back into cover. And then when the word "Ride!" is given—the mad rush, the utter inability to say anything to stop you, the overpowering anxiety to beat everyone, be it your greatest friend or greatest enemy, and get first spear.

Your heart is in your head. There is nothing in the world to you but your lanky gray monster striding away in front and your frantic desire to run him through. Hours are lived in moments. Your horse and you are one animal, with but one unfulfilled wish in the world, a wish you are both doing your very utmost to gratify.

In no other sport, perhaps, is there so much real danger, yet strange to say, accidents are really very few. I have ridden in cold blood—very carefully—over ground that I and my comrades have ridden over helter skelter after pig previously, and to say that I have been astonished is but to describe my feelings in the very feeblest way. How the horses kept their footing it is impossible to say. All I know is that they did.

New Backbone of Silver.

Skilled surgery, combined with phenomenal grit, promises to contribute to medical history a remarkable recovery in the case of Joseph Lafferty, of Hempstead, L. I., to save whose life the fifth and sixth vertebrae were removed from his spine Tuesday afternoon in the Red Cross Hospital, Central Park West and One Hundredth street.

Dr. Irving Haynes, of 1125 Madison avenue, performed the delicate operation, and believes his patient will live for many years. Lafferty is 21 years old, and the father of a son born last November, for whom he is sure he is going to recover. To take the place of the two removed sections of the spinal column, the surgeon inserted fine silver threads and silver plates, fashioned as nearly as possible like the missing vertebrae.

Though he has been paralyzed from his neck down since last October, Lafferty showed wonderful vitality, coming out of the operation strong and eager to live for the sake of his child and his wife. It is not certain that he will recover normal strength, but Dr. Haynes believes he will live.—New York Press.
